

From the Backroom to the Boardroom: Changing the Perception of Supply Chain

Steve Silva

Vice President of Supply Chain
at Care New England Health System

Steve Silva

Steve Silva is a proven leader, consistently delivering Supply Chain improvements, leveraging technology and developing new leaders. He has created agile organizations, demonstrating the capability to service rapidly evolving business requirements. Steve recently joined Care New England Health System as Vice President of Supply Chain. In this role, he will provide leadership and direction, while integrating all aspects of Supply Chain throughout the system. To be successful, Steve will rely on past experiences of leveraging best practices, technology and process improvement. Prior to joining Care New England, Steve spent twenty four years at Hasbro, most recently holding the position Senior Vice President of Global Logistics. While at Hasbro, he led the transformation of the company's Logistics organization from multiple disparate groups around the world to a single global team. He implemented multiple initiatives that improved efficiency, including distribution network rationalizations and realignments, two SAP implementations and numerous global sourcing initiatives. Steve is Chairman of the University of Rhode Island Supply Chain Advisory Committee and a member of the Bryant University Supply Chain Summit Planning Committee. Steve lives in Smithfield, RI with his wife of twenty four years and two children.
